Legislative Committees Will Look

Into the Padrone System.

The "Slave Dealers" Have No License from the City.

Vet They Receive Fees and Thereby

Violate the Law.

The crusade against the padrone and the system encouraged by the heads of city departments by which Italian laborers are held in the vilest kind of servitude and systematically robbed, has already demanded the attention of the Legislature. It is recognized at Albany to the evils complained of strike at the very root of free government and society, and it is proposed to send down a committee from the Assembly to investigate.

The system is so dovetailed into all the departments, including the police, that even the Senate Investigating Committee has also decided to take a hand. It is on the Senatorial Committee's programme to take up the subject, and from present indications it may be the first upon which light will be thrown.

Wards so long as they are employed, Bu Marshal Englehard says they do not charge any fee.

At Mr. Palumbo's office, 193 Mott street, a score or more of Italian laborers had assembled this morning when an "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Mr. Palumbo, who was present, said he could obtain 100 affidavits to the same effect.

They said that no man was ever employed for railroad or other contract work without first paying or agreeing to pay 55 and 51 per month afterwards. Next the padrone insisted on the men sleeping in shartles provided, and calling the food supplied by the padrone at exorbitant prices. In the shantles, it was charged 11 per month.

For bread which the Italians can purchase here for three cents the padrone charges 10 cents.

For lard worth eight cents per pound they are charged 24 cents.

For macaroni, which can be bought here for $1.65 per box, the laborer has to pay $3.50.

For the poorest kind of American cheese, which can be procured here for $1.05 per box, the laborer has to pay $3.50.

The padrone does not confine his operations to the city departments. It is true that, but for the influence of politicians that, but for the influence of politicians that, but for the influence of politicians they could not do business. It is also true that the evil system has branched out in every direction.

Its talons are fastened upon every public improvement. Its influence is felt in cvery railroad. On big work of every lind there will the slaves of the state cven, and the question has assumed one of National importance.

James G. March, who in Italian is known as Mazgio, of 21 Marion street; G. Sica, C. Cava, Harbaro, Zocarani, Marone and Zusco Berardini.

As to the first named, Rev. Father Bandini is after him with a sharp stick in the belief that he is one of the worst. Affidavits concerning his method of employing labor are being drafted every day. Mazgio is the man who has supplied thousands of men to the Eric Rail road. It is charged that he demands from every man so employed a fee of 38 as well as 31 a month each after, wards so long as they are employed. But Marshal Englehard says they do not charge any fee.

Mr. Lynam had been in ill-health for a year past and recently 'ook a trip to Florida. Consumption 's believed to have caused his death.

He was forty-four years old. For the past seventeen years he had been identified with Kings County politics. Since 1886 he had been a Supervisor from Flatbush, but was defeated last election.

With Supervisor Baisley he refused to give up his seat, claiming that their term was for two years. The courts decided to the contrary, and the Town Board appointed Henry Hesterber as his successor in the Board of Supervisors.

Mr. Lynam leaves a widow and four children. His brother, Peter Lynam, is Keeper of the Hall of Records in Brooklyn.
